A NEWSY LETTER FROM NEW YORK

Some Incidents of a Paducah Boy's Newspaper Work.

He Scores a Beat On a Murder Story and Explodes a Fake One.

BALL FANS ARE ALL ALIKE.

Guy Rollison, formerly editor of The Sun, who is now in New York city, and doing good work on the editorial staff of the Evening World, the same paper with which Irvin Cobb is connected, in a letter commenting on his work in the Metropolis, and newspaper work in that city in general, gives an interesting account of how he secured a prize murder story for his paper a few days ago. The story shows Mr. Rollison still applying the traits that made him such a success in local news gathering.

His letter says:

"We are now in our second week of one of New York's great murder mysteries, and they haven't found out any more about it than they would have learned in Paducah. The 'yellows' come out every few hours with a new theory, but nothing has yet resulted from it. The day after the killing the World had four men on it one of whom was 'your humble'."

"It's remarkable what intuition our city editor has. He sent me two days in succession to interview the family lawyer, who has been suspected by some of knowing more than he cares to tell. The papers were all getting pretty close to him, and Saturday for the fourth time (one time I couldn't make connection with him) he sent me after the lawyer, again. I went to his home in Brooklyn and camped on one 'stoop' for him. That is, I put my wits to work and quietly withdrew to a spot. I knew he would have to pass in getting out of the door. Just as he started out of the door, a man who afterwards proved to be a Journal reporter, nailed him, and he refused to stop. He told the Journal man to come to his office about 11 o'clock, and he'd talk to him. I 'laid low and sawed wood' and hopped the car when he did. As I knew him pretty well, and the ride was not small, I had a good interview by the time we had crossed Brooklyn bridge, and the boss said 'write a column.' It was carried through all the editions as the leading murder story. This simply shows how important a part luck chance, or whatever you choose to call it plays in New York journalism. One reporter often comes along and gets a story that another has failed a short time before to get. And vice versa. Often the other fellow beats you to it."

"I don't know whether I told you about one of my experiences or not. I was sent over back of Brooklyn or an Italian duel. The World's first edition that day had a very lurid, thrilling account of how one Dago had carved another to the heart over a beautiful girl. It was a touching romance, and I was to follow it up and get pictures of the victim, the girl, and such things. I found that in a common saloon brawl one Dago was killed. There was not a girl within a mile of the case, and the father of the supposed Italian girl was a Hebrew who had no children. I phoned the facts over and the World promptly killed the 'pipe.' The Sun and other papers, however, took what the World had in its first edition and spread on it until it was almost a novelette. It was funny to me, because I knew the facts and just how the other papers must have got their stories."

Fans Are All Alike.

Baseball fans are all alike whether they hail from New York which has been accustomed now to having the best in the business or from Paducah which thinks nothing but the best in the "Kitty League" will suffice. Commenting on the pennant holding incident of the "champs" a few days ago Mr. Rollison says:

"I am glad to learn that everything with the possible exception of the baseball club is getting along swimmingly in Paducah. It was right funny the way the Giants did here the other day. They had a monster parade with city officials, bands and other embellishments, just as they would do in a country town. The chesty players were the admired of tens of thousands of people, and at the grounds the formal presentation of the pennant took place. Then the lusty Giants proceeded to get the hide whalloped off them, and the fans were very much disgusted."

"I heard that tuncful old opera, Robin Hood, sung the other night, and it was a good deal like home as it was almost the same cast as we saw in Paducah a few months ago. I also attended a benefit performance at the New York theater Sunday in which nearly all the stars performed. It was my first sight of many of them, including De Wolf Hopper and Blanche Ring. George M. Cohan seems to be the favorite young male musical comedy star, and Elsie Janie the favorite girl. I have never seen the latter, but she is said to be very clever. All the boys fall in love with her when they have seen her once."

The acceptance of the position of poundmaster and dog catcher by Alfred Millard, a wealthy banker of Omaha, makes good reading but his voluntary application for this humble position reflects a growing sentiment in this country that every man must perform his duty to organized society. Perhaps, after a while, citizens may be induced to perform jury duty.

THE IDEAL

Lady (stanch teetotaler): "Oh, please, would you mind fetching my little dog Fido out of that saloon?"
Obliging Hostler: "Why, certainly. Which saloon was you in?"

SUSPICION

RANKLES IN HEARTS OF KENTUCKY'S CONGRESSMEN.

See in Wording of Call for Primary Scheme to Trade Them Off for State Officers.

Washington June 22.—There is almost an open rebellion in the Kentucky congressional delegation over the call for the primaries issued by the Beckham-Hager machine. It is a time-honored rule that the call for a Democratic primary in Kentucky shall state that only such men as have voted the regular Democratic ticket on the same day as the primary shall be entitled to vote in the primary. The call issued for the forthcoming primary omits this provision. It is believed by more than a few of the Kentucky Democratic congressmen that this omission was not an oversight, but that it was designed in order to open a way for manipulation of the primaries.

It is feared that there is a scheme on foot to swap off votes for congress for votes for the primary candidates. The prediction is made that unless the rules are amended so as to incorporate the provision which has been left out the chances of the Democratic candidates for congress in the Third, Fifth, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth districts will be jeopardized. There is a great deal of talk about the peculiar wording of the call for the primaries, and the opinion is freely expressed that there is a senegambian somewhere in the woodpile.

St. John's Day.

The Masons and Odd Fellows will combine tomorrow at Benton and hold St. John's Day celebrations. An attractive program has been arranged and the celebration bids fair to outdo any previous one. Lodge men from Lovelaceville and Paducah will go down.

OFFERS ROAD $50,000 TO MOVE

Thomas B. Jeffery Asks That Route Be Changed to Spare Model Kenosha, Wis., June 22.—In order that the Chicago and Milwaukee railway shall not interfere with his plans to build a model factory in Kenosha, Thomas B. Jeffery has offered to pay $50,000 if the company will change its route so that the line will not pass through the Jeffery property. Recently a commission awarded Jeffery a similar amount as damages, but he has announced that he would much prefer to pay the railway company and have the road take some other route.

BLOW ON HEAD

RESULTS IN MENTAL DERANGEMENT AFTER SEVERAL YEARS.

W. J. Aday Pulls Great Toe Nail Out By Root—Goes to Insane Asylum.

W. J. Aday, of Jones street near Eleventh street, was this morning tried by jury in County Judge R. T. Lightfoot's court and adjudged a lunatic and ordered sent to the asylum at Hopkinsville. Aday was formerly a machinist but was struck on the head by a fellow workman several years ago. He suffered a concussion and after his recovery went to driving an ice wagon. This avocation he followed until recently, and the first symptom of "insanity" was Aday's action in pulling out the nail of his great toe. Blood poisoning set in and he was taken to Riverside hospital. He became worse and walked about, refusing to wear clothes.

The asylum authorities were notified this morning over long distance telephone and will send after him at once. Aday is being kept in the county jail.

J. OGDEN ARMOUR COMING HOME

Southampton, June 22.—The steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm, which sailed for New York today, took among her passengers Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Lieutenant U. S. Grant, U. S. A., and Professor J. T. Hatfield.

How the Blood Flow Affects Health.

Few people appreciate the necessity of keeping the blood in every way in good condition if they would have good health.

There are two factors in disease, which, by an endless variety of changes and combinations, define every departure from normal conditions. These are the BLOOD and the NERVES. They sustain life, and END it.

The blood must maintain a steady, swift and equal flow or bad consequences follow. Every organ and tissue must get its right share of blood, no more, no less. Stop it and the system is soon poisoned with accumulated body sewage, and lack of proper nourishment sets up, headaches, tired, worn out sensations, no life, no energy and other kindred ailments follow.

Right the blood flow, and they all leave.

This is the Osteopathic theory. It merely goes back to the beginning of disease. It finds most disease associated with an abnormal blood flow.

Especially during the summer months it is necessary to keep the blood flow right. Exercise of the right sort is a good stimulant for circulation, but the dry hot air treatment, followed by the Osteopathic treatments, which I am giving with such marked good results, is the best treatment yet discovered.

Why? Simply because they go to the basis.

Come to see me at any time and I can easily satisfy you that I can soon build up the run-down system, while you are attending to your usual duties. I shall, too, be pleased to refer you to people you know well who are enthusiastic in their praises of the treatments.

My office hours are from 8 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m.

IN THE COURTS

Leah Johnson has been appointed administratrix of the estate of the late M. W. Johnson.

In Bankruptcy.

The bankrupt estate of J. L. Woodward was appraised yesterday and he value was found to be $221. It was ordered sold at $215, but the creditors will not get much if anything out of the proceeds of the sale. The bankrupt exemptions cover that amount.

In Police Court.

Charles Prince, colored, known as "the fortune telling man" among negroes in Paducah, was fined $20 and costs this morning in police court for disorderly conduct. Prince has been working at odd jobs about the city and finally took to fortune telling, charging $2 per head for fortunes. He prospered until a competitor heard of his operations. The competitor hanged but 50 cents and evicted Prince. The warrant resulted and Prince will amuse himself several weeks in the city jail.

Fred Martin and Will Smith, colored, were presented for breach of peace, but it developed that the latter at the former. The case was left open and a warrant issued against Smith for malicious cutting. The light happened Wednesday morning at the wharf on the steamer Joe Fowler. Will Conover, a shantboat resident, was presented for breach of peace. It was alleged he attempted to strike and did use some bad language towards Constable A. C. Shelton, who had come on his boat to inspect his license. The case was left open until Monday.

In the matter of Ross Thomas, charged with maliciously shooting at Lottie Ladd, the warrant was dismissed and Adolph Clark, a companion, was fined $10 and costs for hooting in the city limits. Clark is said to have shot the pistol.

Other cases were: Louis Rondo, colored, selling liquor without a license, continued; Ed Elliott, breach of the peace, continued; George Smith, colored, sleeping in a box car, $5 and costs; Will Cannon, dismissed, and Katie Cannon, both colored, $15 and costs for breach of peace.

DEATHS OF A DAY

Milford McIntosh.

Milford McIntosh, the 11-year-old son of Mr. Alfred McIntosh, of Clay Street, died Wednesday night at 8 o'clock of blood poison.

Mrs. Hiram Womack.

Mrs. Hiram Womack, 49 years old, died of rheumatism at her home, 1342 South Sixth street, yesterday afternoon after an illness of several weeks. She is survived by a husband, an emigrant of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. The burial was in Oak Grove cemetery.

COLONY PLAN CONDEMNED

British Committee Reports Against Haggard's Scheme to Aid Poor.

London, June 22.—H. Rider Haggard's plan for the establishment of agricultural settlements in the British colonies by the government to assist the unemployed and the needy is declared to be impracticable in parliamentary papers issued today containing the reports of the committee which investigated the scheme.

"Whether we turn to Canada, South Africa or Australia," the report says, "we fail to find an instance of a thoroughly successful effort at colonization."

The committee believes the expense would be greater than calculated, and that the prospects of the return of money advanced uncertain.

Exports of Meat Products During Eleven Months, Ending June First.

Exports of meats and meat products from the United States in the eleven months ending with May aggregated over 189 million dollars. The ten months for which complete figures have been presented by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics show a total of 166 millions, and as preliminary figures for May indicate a total of over 16 millions for that month, this would make the total exports of meats and meat products up to June 1 about 182 million dollars, with one month remaining to complete the fiscal year. These figures for eleven months show a large exportation of meats and meat products than in the corresponding period of any other year in the history of our export trade, and show an increase of practically 60 per cent when compared with the figures for the corresponding months of 1896.

A decade earlier.

This large increase occurs in all of the principal products, but is especially noticeable in lard, oleo oil, salted pork, fresh beef and fresh pork.

All parts of the world are purchasers of American provisions. The land exports of 1905 went direct from the United States to 75 different countries and colonies, the largest quantity to the United Kingdom, valued at 17 1-2 million dollars; to Germany, about 15 millions; to Netherlands, practically 5 millions; to Belgium, 2 1-2 millions; to Cuba, 1 3-4 millions; while the remainder went in sums of less than 1 million dollars value to various other countries and colonies practically every European country being a purchaser to a greater or less extent, as were all of the countries of North and South America and the principal countries of Asia and Oceania.

AN APPEAL FOR JIM HOWARD'S FAMILY

Responding to an urgent appeal made by republicans and democrats alike, The Sun presents a plain statement of fact in regard to James B. Howard's stricken family.

James B. Howard is now confined in the penitentiary, where he will serve a life sentence, having been convicted of the murder of William Goebel, five years ago.

Mrs. James B. Howard and her three little children are the innocent victims of the predicament Mr. Howard finds himself placed in by process of law. For five years this heroic woman has labored unceasingly, and never without hope, to secure a vindication for her husband. Their little home has been swept into the legal maelstrom, and today they are dependent on charity for the clothes they wear, and even for the bread they eat.

This condition will not be permitted to remain as long as there are tender hearts in Old Kentucky. This loyal wife has, by a devotion typical of Southern womanhood, touched the finest instincts of the human race. Facing the darkest gloom, from day to day, she has presented to a devoted husband a smiling and unflinching optimism that has undoubtedly braced him for the heavy ordeal he has undergone.

These three children are winsome children—for both the father and mother are persons of education and refinement. They are denied a home, an opportunity to acquire knowledge, a right to a father's care and protection.

Is it not a worthy case? Think as you may of the guilt or innocence of Jim Howard, here are helpless beings cast adrift on a world none too sympathetic, unless aroused to the cry of urgent want.

The Sun will acknowledge receipt of all money sent to it for "The Mrs. James B. Howard Fund."

A dime, a dollar, a hundred dollars, or any amount, given in such a cause, will be "bread cast upon the waters," and such, the Great Father assures us "will come back an hundredfold."

Prof. Rinaldo Lothrop Perkins, one of the most scholarly men of Boston, at the age of 80, lives a simple life in a small attic room, surrounded by his books.

Dr. Lynn of Pana, Ill., the oldest physician in that state, has just celebrated his 101st birthday. More than 1,000 persons attended a reception given in his honor.

Asa Dekluge, who has been chosen chief of the Apache Indians to succeed Geronimo, is a graduate of the Indian school at Carlisle and has great influence with his tribe.

Gen. J. C. Jamison, a Missourian of the old school, the greatest bird lover in Oklahoma, his present home is advocating the adoption of the study of birds and their protection in the public schools.

Dr. George A. Ketchum, dean of the faculty of the Medical College of Alabama and one of the best known medical men in the country, died on Tuesday. He was one of the organizers of the Medical College.

Hon. Thomas W. Bucknell, of Providence, R. I., is known as the "champion monument raiser," having started more monument funds and assisted at more monument dedications than any other man in the country.

Claude Kemper, whose father is a vice-admiral of the British navy, has enlisted in the United States Marine Corps and is now stationed at the Norfolk Navy yard. He is 25 years old and saw hard service in the Boer war.

Sir Purdon Clarke, director of the Metropolitan Museum, has sailed for Europe, and while abroad will make arrangements to get copies of certain masterpieces which the museum may never hope to obtain possession of.
